

THE JOURNEY OF POULTRY

FROM THE FARM

In the heart of Poland, poultry is carefully farmed and prepped for market. Whether fresh or frozen, Lineage's managed transportation services ensure that the product is handled with care as it begins its journey through the cold chain.

LOCKED-IN FRESHNESS

Upon arrival at one of Lineage's cold storage warehouses in Gdańsk, the product is quickly frozen to -22 degrees Celsius using our state-of-the-art blast freezing capabilities. This process locks in the freshness, ensuring that each product is perfectly preserved and stored until it's time to continue its journey.

Did you know? Our innovative blast-freezing process can reduce freeze times by more than 50%.

WE'LL TAKE IT FROM HERE!

When poultry orders are placed, pallets are expertly pulled, repacked and prepared for departure by our team. The product is then loaded onto a temperature-controlled container and makes the short 500-meter journey from our cold storage warehouse to Port Gdańsk using Lineage's drayage services.

SMOOTH SAILING

Once at the port, the product passes through all necessary clearance with ease, either through an external customs agency or with the help of Lineage's customs brokerage services. From there, our freight forwarding team handles all of the paperwork and ensures the product is loaded onto a container ship to be transported across the sea.

Did you know? Lineage is Authorized Economic Operator (AEO) certified, which gives us a preferred position at customs.

READY FOR ENJOYMENT

Upon arrival into West Africa or Southeast Asia, the poultry is distributed to local restaurants and grocery stores. From there, the product is prepped to perfection and enjoyed by consumers. Bon appétit!
